

Mrs. King's 3-yr old Class
February 5, 2010

We have certainly had a fun-filled, busy week! Not only did the class get to participate in Catholic Schools Week activities, but we also celebrated the 100th Day of School and Groundhog's Day. On Monday, in honor of the 100th Day of School, the class helped us count 100 coins into the birthright baby bottle. They did an amazing job with their counting and were very excited to count all the way to 100. In anticipation of the groundhog seeing his shadow on Tuesday, we created our own "shadows" in the shape of a groundhog and also made groundhog puppets that can pop out of their burrows. The Lexington Children's Theatre visited us on Tuesday and gave us a wonderful performance of "The Fisherman and his Wife" that the class really seemed to enjoy.

The excitement will be continuing next week with a theme of Valentine's Day which will end with a Valentine's Day Party on Friday. Please have your child send in 12 Valentines (one for each child in our class) by Friday. In order to make passing out the Valentines a little easier for the kids, we ask that they do not address the Valentines, only sign their names. We will decorate special bags to collect the Valentines as one of our class projects next week. Letter Show and Tell on Wednesday will be for the letter "P". We have had some great show and tell items lately - thank you so much for helping your child find such original letter items! Thank you to Seamus for bringing the snack this week. Next week Keegan will be bringing the snack for the class.

One last reminder, please try to dress the children appropriately for the weather (hats, mittens, etc.). We will try to bring the children outside everyday that the weather permits, even if it is only for a few minutes. It is amazing what a little fresh air can do!

Thanks for sharing your children with us! Have a great weekend!
